ABSTRACT

[0056]   A method for assessing levels of soluble A-beta as an indicator of Alzheimer's disease, and other amyloid-related diseases, in vitro, ex vivo, in vivo, and in situ which employs an imaging agent binds specifically to soluble A-beta and is labeled for detection.